Entered at the Greenville, Ky., postoffice as second-class matter.

But, but it's tough to have to tell a bright, pretty, attractive, fascinating girl, the fervor of whose proposal shows how undying her affection is, that you can only be a brother to her!

A woman sent to the conscience found $3.50 she believes she owes for duty on 37 yards of Irish lace bought from an Italian pedler, who declared he had smuggled it and, therefore, was able to sell it to her at 20 cents a yard. Conscience is a strange thing. The poor woman, if she only knew it, owes herself money.

A new cancer cure is announced in Paris. Experiments made at the Pasteur Institute show that mice infected with cancerous germs were cured after being treated with eight or ten injections of a combination of selenium and cerium. After three or four injections the tumor liquefies and disappears. So far no relapses have occurred in the cases treated in the last several months. Great importance is attached to the discovery. Selenium is one of the new radium metals discovered by Mme. Curie.

MR. CARNEGIE was a little diffident in appearing before the committee that is investigating the Steel Trust. He was too shy to accept an invitation and it took a subpoena to get him there, but once before the committee he had a delightful time telling how he started on the road to wealth, expressing his opinion of our banking system, discussing transportation and trusts, and paying a high compliment of "Charlie" Schwab as a mechanical genius. The committee may not know any more about the influence of trusts on the course of trade than it did before, but it has had a pleasant time listening to the always entertaining and frequently illuminating conversation of the Laird of Skibo.

Profuse Perspiration.

Profuse perspiration, or hyperidrosis, often causes great annoyance, and when offensive even suffering. Offensiveness is most likely to occur when the regions affected are those that come into close and continual contact with the clothing, as, for example, the feet and the armpits; and moreover, the long continued dampness due to lack of evaporation may cause a troublesome eczema.

Many people, especially those in whom the excessive sweating is caused by nervous conditions, are annoyed, even in cold weather and although they discard gloves, by profuse and continual perspiring of the hands.

In dealing with this ailment, it is necessary to seek the underlying cause, and if possible to remove it. Sometimes the perspiring is only one among many symptoms of a serious physical condition—general paralysis, for example; at other times, what it may be a symptom of remains obscure in spite of much searching. Very often it appears to be simply one symptom of a lack of general tone, in which case it is often accompanied by poor circulation.

Hyperidrosis is most trying when it occurs in the feet, for since people are obliged to go shod, sufficient ventilation and absolute cleanliness are hard to attain. Sometimes the trouble proves to be due to flatfoot, and then shoes that will give proper support to the weakened arch will correct the excessive sweating. In general, sufferers from hyperidrosis must observe the most fastidious cleanliness. If possible, they should take a foot bath several times a day, and always follow it with a complete change of foot-wear. They should wear white socks or stockings, and as far as possible, canvas shoes.

Much can be done by local treatment, either with powders, which are prescribed for their drying and absorbing effect, or with astringent and antiseptic lotions. It is well to bathe the feet at night with water containing an astringent lotion, and to use a powder in the morning on putting on the shoes and stockings. If any one objects to the use of powder, he may obtain the same result by wearing white stockings that have been soaked in a saturated solution of boric acid.

AVOID DANGER FROM FROST

Formation of Ice Around Base of Trees Keeps Ground in Frozen Condition, Retarding Growth.

Last year there was a scarcity of fruit in the middle states because the prematurely warm weather thawed the ground and warmed the trees, causing them to blossom. This was followed by frosty weather that froze the blossoms which contained the germs necessary to produce fruit.

This is a frequent occurrence and farmers have used fires and oil stoves under the branches of the trees in their orchards to keep the blossoms from being frost-bitten.

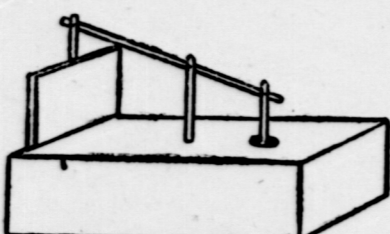

There is danger of frost in our region until April 15 or later, and by delaying the budding these trees until that time this danger would be avoided, or there is ample time in the fall of the year for the ripening of the fruit, writes Chas. Dietz in the Chicago News.

In order to do this all that would be necessary is to scrape a small ridge of dirt about six inches high, forming a circle around the base of the tree about five feet from it. After the ground has thoroughly frozen in the latter part of January fill this bowl or space with water, which would be directly over the root of the tree. The cold weather would cause the water to become ice. Then place a layer of straw or hay over this ice. The device would keep the sun from thawing the ice, as the snow and ice ridges on the shady or north side of our fences now show. As ice is a nonconductor of heat, this would keep the dirt around the roots and base of the tree in a frozen condition, retarding the circulation or flowing of the sap until it was thawed and warmed up. The straw or hay could be removed about April 15 with safety.

OLD-FASHIONED RABBIT TRAP

Can Be Made by Any Boy Handy With Tools Inside Half an Hour and It Never Fails to Work.

Make a box with a sliding door to work up and down easily. Run a stringer over the center peg and fasten the trigger which has a little notch in it to hook behind the top board and to hold up the trap-door. When the rabbit gnaws at the bait he pushes the trigger back, which slides through the hole and lets the slide-door fall. This can be made out of any strong box by a boy who is handy with tools in half an hour and it never fails to work.

A Handy Diagram.

Where different varieties of apples are stored together in the same pit, or, if several sorts of vegetables are buried together, keep a diagram of the pit, something like this:

Ben Jonathan, Willow Pippin, Davis, Twig.

By this plan when fruit is wanted in the winter, one may now exactly what part of the pit to open to secure the varieties desired.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES

It does not pay to crowd trees in planting.

Encourage the boys to kill every rabbit they can this winter.

The damage done by rabbits does not stop with the trees they girdle.

The peach and plum are short-lived trees. The pear and apple are long-lived.

Grapes are still trodden under the bare feet in many of the vineyards of Italy and Spain.

Young orchards are injured by borers, rabbits and mice and should be protected against these pests.

Preparations should now be made to protect the younger trees in the orchard from rabbits and sunscald.

Wood ashes are alkaline and not acid in any degree and are very good for strawberry and other fruit plants.

One secret of success in getting grafts to have the scions entirely dormant when they are placed in the limbs.

A good deal depends upon what a certain market prefers, in the matter of fruit packages, as well as in fruit varieties.

Experiments have shown that peach growers should not wait until the trees leaf out before they spray with Bordeaux mixture.

The rabbit is a carrier of several parasitic diseases of animals. Like some other things they look more innocent than they are.

Frequently ornamental shrubs that are not pruned each year, as they should be in most cases, grow too tall and become obstructed and lose much of their beauty.

TO KILL ROADSIDE INSECTS

Right Time to Do Work Is Late in Fall When Cold Weather Has Set in and Vegetation Dry.

(By GEORGE H. GLITZKE.)

A great many people have the mistaken idea that the time to burn the roadside in order to kill the many insects that winter in these places, is in the early spring of the year.

If you will watch closely at such a place where the roadside has been burned in the spring you will see the insects coming out of the ground very thickly on the warm days.

This proves that the insects were not killed. Most of them are in the ground and the heat of the fire passing over them does not harm them and the trash burned from above them makes it all the easier for the insects to come forth.

While no doubt a few of them are killed the majority of them are uninjured.

The right time to burn these roadsides to do effective work is in the late fall of the year, after the cold weather has already set in and all the tender vegetation is dry.

Then, if the roadsides are burned, the insects in such places will be killed by heavy freezing, as they usually do not go very deeply into the ground but seem to depend on the covering of trash to protect them from the cold.

This is a great bit more effective in the killing of the insects than the spring burning.

Not only does the fall burning of the roadsides do good by the killing of the insects that winter there, but it also helps to keep the road in better shape by allowing less snow to collect in the drifts as it usually does in places where there is much grass and weeds.

STICK TO THE FANNING MILL

By Grading Our Own Seed We Can Materially Increase Yield of Our Small Grain Crops.

No farmer can get any one to take the same pains in grading his seed that he would himself. Some farmers claim that it does not pay to clean grain.

It is a fact that it does not pay very large returns to clean and grade grain before selling it, but by grading our own seed we can materially increase the yield of our small grain crops.

The corn crop of this country has been increased millions of bushels by Fanning Mill.

Intelligent seed selection. All other grain crops can be improved by grading the seed, so that only good, plump, healthy grains, free from all foul weed-seeds may be grown.

The fanning-mill, judiciously used, will do much to increase the yield of every small grain-crop and assist in keeping our fields free from noxious weeds.

It will take cockle out of wheat, buckthorn, plantain out of clover, in fact it can be adjusted so as to handle all kinds of grain and weed-seeds.

If you decide that it pays to sow good seed and to keep your fields free from noxious weeds, then do not hesitate to invest a few dollars in a fanning mill.

GOOD ROADS & FARM NOTES

File the crosscut saw yourself; you will thus soon save enough to buy a new saw.

Weeds crowd the cultivated plants, depriving them of light and space in both soil and air.

Clover and grass seed will nearly always do best when they can be started to early growth.

The germinating power of the middle kernels of an ear of corn is much stronger than that of the tip and butt kernels.

Experts of the department of agriculture advocate the use of lime in a limited and experimental way in every locality.

No matter whether the corn is bought or saved from your own farm it should be stored in a dry, well-ventilated place.

After growing a crop of corn, the soil is always in excellent form to absorb and retain the autumn rains and winter snows.

Alfalfa does not attain maturity until the third or fourth year; therefore, do not sow it expecting to get the best results in less time.

Corn treated with a dressing of plaster and ashes will soon show by the strong growth and the dark color of the leaf the effect of the dressing.

Keep wide paths shoveled to every outbuilding. Help to open the roads when heavy snows drift them, whether you are called out by the path-master or not.

Don't put off till spring any outside work that can be done now. Clean up the garden, haul out manure, and when possible push the plowing before snow flies.

Take the frost out of your grindstone before you grind the ax, but do it gradually, and not by using too hot water. That would injure the quality of the stone.

Keep the apples in a cool dry place until danger of freezing occurs, then move them to the cellar, but be sure to keep the cellar as cold as possible without danger of freezing.

The Roman stem apple is very easily affected with bitter rot, but this may be prevented by spraying with Bordeaux mixture or lime-sulphur solution before the apples are full grown.

A Ready Assistant For Off Days.

Perhaps you never have any off days when the dinner getting problem is a Chinese puzzle; when you haven't a thing ready and no materials that sounds good to you.

If you haven't such days you surely are to be congratulated.

But if you have, then a few cans of Campbell's Soup on your pantry shelf will help you a whole lot—will in fact solve the problem.

Campbell's Tomato Soup will taste good and will fill up so that little else need be served.

Better let us send you half a dozen cans right now so you will be ready for possible off days.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good skin means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs.

Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

TO THE MONTHS.

Dance, dance, and whirl the weary year away
Unto the bourne of every bygone year.
Dance on; your measures, be they said or gay,
No imprint leave upon the face austere
Of this our kingdom. Ring your fleet-ing rounds
Their trace vanishes; and not a birth
Of darkling vapor 'neath the azure bounds
Of empyrean, clouding its blue mirth.
Nor flashing wattle of the wild bird's wing
Write upon air a more enduring thing.
The Seasons are your garments; them you cast
Over the world you dance upon; their stain
Tinctures the vision of the precious past,
Garlands the garner of delight and pain.
Though Earth forget them and a bosom bare
Lifts to the lashes of the winter wind,
Your robes of many colors—radiant, rare,
Kindling old haunts of memory—re-mind
How Spring and Summer and red gold-en ways
Were prelude to the sere of these dark days

Dance in my heart, ye Twelve, that delicate thing
Throbs at your lightest footfall, to the last,
And not a day of all the days ye bring
Shall unrecorded steal upon the past.
Too instant are they—each a living stroke
Of this slight shadow-picture that en-spheres
My life—a vision of a rainbow broke
On stormy time. Oh, children of the years,
Your dance of joy shall light my dim tomorrow
Through the long darkness of your dance of sorrow.

jl 28 J. A. SHAVER.

Traips have been in worse shape during the past ten days than in many years. Passenger trains have been from one to six hours late almost every day, and local freights have been annulled frequently. The service has worked a hardship here, as it has been impossible for grocers to maintain their stocks.

Needles for all sewing machines at Roark's.

People here have been fortunate in being able to secure coal from cars shipped in from nearby mines. The roads have been so bad that it was almost impossible to make deliveries from the small banks, and many cars a week are being handled by various parties. The price is being held down to the regular rate of 8 cents a bushel.

Coal operators are among the heavy losers resulting from the railroad strike. There is an extra demand for coal, but on account of not being able to have cars handled the mines are operated only on about half time. There is a general desire that the railroad company and the men get together, as every avenue of industry is being made to suffer from the handicap.

The severe cold of the past week, or some other cause, has brought about a heavy fire loss all over the state, Louisville having had one of its worst fires in years, and many other towns and cities suffering heavy conflagrations. Frozen water mains have handicapped the firefighters, thus adding to the loss. Greenville luckily had its run of fires in fair weather, and has thus far escaped an outbreak.

Mr. C. P. Elgin, father of Mrs. J. F. Rice, died at his home in Corinth, Miss., Monday afternoon, from a complication of ailments. Deceased was well known here, where he had visited his daughter, his last visit here being last summer. Mr. Elgin was a gentleman of the old school, and a fine type of Southern manhood, and had a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Rice has the sympathy of her many friends here.

Mr. John B. Rogers, aged 60 years, died of pneumonia at his home at Leitchfield last Saturday night, following a short illness. He was a brother of our Mr. J. L. Rogers, and was a member of a large family. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, and two sons. Interment was in the cemetery at Leitchfield at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, and was largely attended.

Cold Demoralizes Freight Service.

Local merchants have been in hard lines for several days during the cold spasm. Shipments from Louisville, Evansville and other points of supply have been very irregular, and from the east there was no local freight train from Wednesday until Monday morning. There were seven carloads of freight delivered here Monday, crushing the transfer people and crowding the tracks and freight room. Much of this merchandise was of a perishable nature, and fruits, vegetables, etc., were frozen stiff. Apples, bananas, oranges, lemons, cabbage, potatoes and such stuff were sold to best advantage at best prices that could be secured, but the railroad company will lose heavily by the delay. The cause of non-delivery was that the engines are all in bad shape, and many of them were "dead" for several days. Conditions are somewhat better now, but all trains are irregular.

Death of Mrs. J. D. Langley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Langley died at her home in Central City last Saturday, following an illness of some months from rheumatism, complicated with heart trouble. She was the wife of Mr. J. D. Langley, chief of police of Central City, and was well known in this county, where she spent her 62 years. Deceased was a worthy member of the Methodist church, and a funeral service was held at the church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, interment being made in Fairmount cemetery, in the presence of many relatives and friends from over the county. Beside her husband she is survived by six children.

Household Hints.

Never indulge in family quarrels in the presence of the cook. It distracts her attention from her work.
Always keep in your pantry a pound or two of coffee, selected especially for the use of neighbors.
Try to avoid the useless habit of pouting and smiling when talking through the telephone to a friend. Reflect a moment—the friend does not see you.

Beans may be baked by putting them in a pot and placing the pot just inside the furnace door before retiring for the night. If the beans are cooked too much they can be used for fuel.
Every house should have a large front porch for the convenience of the boy who delivers the Sunday papers.

Many store houses have been more or less flooded during the past ten days, as this has been a hard test on roofs.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Circuit court is moving along at a good gait, and several important cases have been handled. The grand jury adjourned yesterday, after ten days' work well done, and have returned many important indictments, with the usual lesser of fenses, also. In the case of the Employers' Indemnity Co. vs. Elk Valley Consolidated Coal Co. pre-emptory instructions were given for the defendant.

The Third National Bank of Lexington was given a judgment of $2,500 against J. M. Thompson.

Mrs. Annie Eades secured a judgment of $5,000, credited by $339 against the Security Life Insurance Co. of America. This policy was held by Mr. C. E. Eades, but the company sought to lapse it on claim of non-payment of premium, but the court gave an extended opinion, and by peremptory instruction ruled against the company in its contention.

The youngsters have been having some rare sport here for several days, our more than seven hills near town supplying the site for sledding, and scores of boys and girls have been improving the opportunity to the limit. One of the favorite places has been the hill leading to the depot, and a mile a minute has been slow going to the speed reached by some of the flyers. There have been a few upsets, with bumps, scratches and bruises, but no real injuries have been sustained, and there has not been any hesitancy in the game on account of these slight mishaps.

Land Hunters Menfiful.

There has not been known such activity in land as is now on in this county. The purchasers are here in abundance, and some of them have put in much time without being able yet to secure what they want. The value of Muhlenberg land is beginning to be appreciated at somewhat of its worth, and people who own it are averse to turning it loose, as prices here are much lower than in the adjoining counties. Some recent transfers of land near town show an increase of about 400 per cent. in the last 15 years. The general rule is to secure double and treble the prices now that ruled that far back. Many people think the limit has been reached, but wiser ones predict that during the next decade land will increase in price fully as much as it has in the past 15 years. There is no doubt that the movement is in its first stages, and the development will astonish most of us. As one looks back now, he wonders why he did not have the foresight to invest in lands years ago, but it is even more certain that in time to come we shall regret our neglect of land even more than we now do. All other values may fluctuate, and money may be entirely lost when invested in the industries, but since the beginning of time the land has become more valuable each year. The attractiveness of Muhlenberg is drawing hundreds of people from other parts here, and farms at $10 to $15 an acre will soon be a thing of the past.

Farmers are elated over the heavy snows and the continued cold, as old observers declare that they have never known a poor crop year to follow such weather as we have been getting this winter. If everyone will believe this it will help greatly, because this will cause proper effort on the part of the tiller of the soil, and after all that has more than any other one thing to do with the production of crops.

The warm weather of yesterday, and rain promised, cause fears of high waters.

There is a growing demand for horses, and the price is ascending.

Mrs. Martha Mosely Dies.

Prof. V. M. Mosely, who is connected with the high school here, was called to his old home at Bellville, in Hancock county, by the death of his mother, which occurred last Friday at midnight, the cause being cancer from which she had long suffered. She was 50 years old, and was the mother of seven children, who survive her, as does her husband. Prof. Mosely has the sympathy of his wide circle of friends here in his loss.

The highest medical authority on foods,

Sir James Crichton Browne, LL.D.—F.R.S. of London, gives the best reasons for eating more

Quaker Oats

In an article published in the Youth's Companion of September 23rd, 1909, Dr. Browne, the great medical authority on foods, says, about brain and muscle building—

"There is one kind of food that seems to me of marked value as a food to the brain and to the whole body throughout childhood and adolescence (youth), and that is oatmeal.

"Oats are the most nutritious of all the cereals, being richer in fats, organic phosphorus and lecithins."

He says oatmeal is gaining ground with the well-to-do of Great Britain. He speaks of it as the mainstay of the Scottish laborer's diet and says it produces a big-boned, well-developed, mentally energetic race.

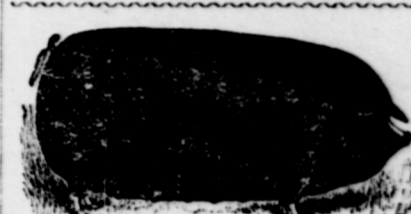

His experiments prove that good oatmeal such as Quaker Oats not only furnishes the best food for the human being, but eating it strengthens and enlarges the thyroid gland—this gland is intimately connected with the nourishing processes of the body.

In conclusion he says—"It seems probable therefore that the bulk and brawniness of the Northerners (meaning the Scotch) has been in some measure due to the stimulation of the thyroid gland by oatmeal porridge in childhood."

The Scotch eat Quaker Oats because it is the best of all oat-meals.

HOW OLD PEOPLE

May Prolong Their Lives

At an advanced age waste is more rapid than repair. The organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth. The circulation is poor, the blood thin and watery, the appetite poor and digestion weak.

We want to say to every aged person in this vicinity that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) will prolong life. It creates an appetite, aids digestion and makes good blood. In this natural manner Vinol retards waste and replaces weakness with strength, giving new life to the worn system.

If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

CONCRETE SAVES OLD TREE

Elm Is Preserved by Construction of Concrete Wall, So That Entire Trunk Was Free From Dirt.

C. L. Miller, in Suburban Life for August, writes of the preservation of an old elm through the medium of concrete. The street on which this particular elm was growing had been filled up all of four feet, and in the course of a few years this began to affect the tree, which showed unsatisfactory signs of dying. So, in order to save it, the ground was dug away from the tree to the street's original level, and a concrete wall, together with a rustic railing, was placed around the tree, so that the entire trunk might be free from dirt, as it was originally.

The construction of the reinforced concrete wall is very simple. After the hole was dug to the desired width and squared properly, the posts for the railing were set so that they rested on the bottom of the hole and extended about four feet above the ground. These posts were connected each by four cross-pieces, two below the ground and two above, which made a sort of fence around the tree. The false work to hold the cement in place until it was set was so constructed that the part of the posts below the ground, as well as the cross-pieces connecting them, would be half embedded in the concrete. This concrete wall, approximately nine inches in thickness, was reinforced with strong iron wire cut to the required length, and put in place in the manner of open network while the concrete was being poured. Braces extended from the tree to the boards wherever it was deemed necessary, so that the false work might be strong enough to hold the concrete back of it.

Above the ground, a rustic railing was carried out, constructed so that it might be strong enough to permit of the small boys' climbing over it.

LITTLE SNOWBERRY IS HARDY

Small Shrub Bears Fruit in Clusters and is Easy of Propagation by Seeds or Cuttings.

The snowberry is a small shrub which bears fruit in clusters and is easy of propagation by suckers, seeds or cuttings.

These shrubs are excellent for covering the ground under trees, or planting in masses or in borders where a low-growing plant is desired.

They are very hardy and thrive well in almost any soil, even in heavy clay or dry gravelly banks. Their habit of suckering enables them to cover the ground rapidly and effectively.

The snowberry is practically effective because it retains its fruit until it is forced off and one species retains its foliage through the winter. For these reasons they are pleasing additions to the winter landscape.

A Good Apple.

Stayman wins as a commercial apple is surpassed by no other. By some authorities it is called the most successful apple grown. It is of medium size, a beautiful dark, rich red, good eating as well as good keeping fruit. It is far superior to the tree much stronger than the original variety; long lived, early bearer, good yielder, a later winter variety.

Protect Fruit Bushes.

Current and other bushes that are liable to be broken down by heavy snows, may often be protected from such damage by simply tying them together in an upright position so that the snowdrifts cannot bend and break the canes.

bought a bottle and began to get better from the start, and for the past six months I have had scarcely any pain and am able to walk as well as ever." J. H. SANDERS, P. O. box 5, Rockaway, N. J.

Few medicines are of any benefit for rheumatism, but Mr. Sanders tells plainly what Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine did for it. One ounce of salicylate of soda added to one bottle of Nervine makes an excellent remedy for rheumatism, which is now known to be a nervous disease and therefore subject to the influence of a medicine that acts through the nerves, as does

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not proof of, a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nervous system malfunctioning.
